NEWPORT,

BY CRANSTON & NORMAN 127 THAMES STREET.

TUESDAY MORN'G, AUG. 17, 1852. ELECTION MONDAY, NOV. 8.

Whig National Nominations FOR PRESIDENT, WINDIELD SCOTT, OF MEW SERRET.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT, WILLIAMIA. GRAHAM, OF SCRIPT CAROLINA.

Electors. ELISHA HARRIS, of Cofentry. ISAAC P. BAZARD, of Newport. AMOS D. SMITH, of Providence, CHAILES ALLEN, of North Kingstown,

ITT The hearing on the Liquor cases will be had to-morrow, before the Court of Justices, when, we presume, the hired witnesses from Providence will again be in attendance. As we have stated before, we trust that all our clilzens will regard these men, who are so lust to all sense of decency and sell respact, with ellent contempt, and allow them to complete their dirty and degrading work, without molestation. We have never countenanced the attack which was made open them last week. But one thing is morally certain, it in similar demonstration should again be made, and these ruffians or any of them, should draw pistols and fire or attempt to fire them, they must prepare themselves to take the consequences, and those probably of rather a summary na-The people of Newport, of all classes, will not allow such men to regart to such menns, because all who imppen to be in the neighborhood, at the time, are in danger of their, lives .--Men who are entirely free from all participation in or sympathy with the conduct of lawless men who might make an assault with eggs on these witnesses, -- innocent women and even children, are liable to be shot down by these reckless fellows, who have come here, as bired informers, fully armed with loaded pistols. We repeat again the people at Newport will not submit to such imposition and such danger,and there will be enough found who will speedily remedy the cytl. ...

One thing is certain, for all experience has demonstrated it,-no law can be enforced which is not sustained by public opinion; all laws, to be successful in their operation, most be founded in justice and equity, and must have the approbation of the mass of the com munity; without these "requirements, they will be entirely without effect .-An obnexious law may not be openly resisted, although constantly violated; yet such a law accomplishes no good because it fails to effect the desired object,- and the reason of this is that it violates the rights of the people and robs them of their property-property which the law recognizes and the Constitution guarantees and protects.-Hence the nullity of all such laws .-Some, perhaps, will term this one of the cyils of a Republic; it is nevertheless a truth, for in Republica the people rule, and they will not submit to laws which are obnazious to them. Fortunately, there is a proper mode to remedy the cvil, because the people have the power to repeal the law-through the same channel that it came into exis-

In regard to this law certain Tem perance men, aided by a few politicians who were reckless and unprincipled in their conduct, have pursued a course which was contrary to reason and jua tice, and in direct violation of all Parliamentary usage. This law was indecently rushed through both branches of the Assembly within twenty-four hours; its friends refused to have it printed, a thing which was never known before in regard to any public law of any considerable importance—they refused to have it faid over to the June session, only six weeks distant -in fact, they refused everything which was reaconable or just in regard to it. At the May session there were more new members of the Assembly, men who had never sat in a Legislative body before, -than had ever been known in any previous year; the law was revamped from the Maine law, and was patched up by Mayor Barstow & Co., without the aid or inspection of any lawyer, except one or two of no experience and far less legal acquirements or comprehension,-- and in this indecent manner and under these extraordinary circum stances, it was rushed through the Assembly, with perfectly intemperate ferecity. The law is lame throughout, and many of its provisions are contrary to the principles of Magna Charta, it direct violation of the Constitution and repugnant to all the old and wellsettled maxims of law.

The most severe and efficacious com mentary on this monstrous law is found in the fact that the British Ministry have just votced it, as passed by the New Brunewick Legislature, on the I dente, at Newport.

ground that it contravenes the rights of the Queen's subjects, - and all the world knows that a decision of the British Ministry is high and reliable authority, for the Queen's Cabinet is composed of the ablest talent in the realm. Well, if the British Ministry thinks that this law violates the rights of the people of a monarchial government, -- in the name of common sense, does it not most grossty violate the rights of a free people, who live under a Republican government, and whose pride has been to declare from 1776 down to this time, that man is capable of self-government, and that all governments derive their just power from the consent of the governed.

Once more. listory and experience, in all ages of the world, with a uniformity which is truly remarkable, teach us that no great moral reform can be effected by acts of legislation solely; you may legislate to a certain extent, so far as a reasonable palice regulation is concerned, -- and this is undoubtedly beneficial,-but beyond that, all legislative quactments are not jutile, - but they are destructive of the grand object which it is desired to attain. Human laws cannot reform the heart of man special or general enactments cannot annihilate sin, and all the panophy of jurisprudence cannot subjugate the passions of man, and cause them to yield obedience to the mandates of virtue.--Moral reforms must be accomplished by moral and persuasive means, and the sincere aposiles of Temperance must have patience, forbearance, fortitude and faith, if they would do their work successfully.

By the enactment of the Maine Law in these New England States, these tauatics have accomplished inmeasuratile mischief, while they have achieved no good. They have rolled the Temperance reformation years backwarde,and they have engendered the bitterest and worst feelings which slumber in the human heart. Blood has already been shed in Maine, and the hands of the functics who have orged the passage of this law, are stained with the gure of their fellow men. Whatever muy yet come from the monstresities of the law, these wild fanatics are answerable for. We must do many of them the justice to say that we believe them sincere in their fanaticism,-but why God has abandoned them to their folly and wickedness, we cannot concieve,unices it can be accounted for on the principle that those whom he intends to destroy he first makes mad.

We have never advised resistance to this or any other law; but have always been opposed to the law, as a lawyer and as a man, -and for these reasons we conscientiously oppose it, and shall continue to do so. A very large proportion of the people of this town are alse opposed to the law, and in the edito rial remarks which we have made in regard to it, we have but expressed and echoed the true state of public opinion in this community,--and had we pursuch any other course, we should have been reckless to our trust, and misrepresented popular sentiment. The friends of the Maine Law, in this town, and in the whole County, are but a very small part of the population; among them, however, are some respectable and worthly people, -- and we can only regret that their judgment is so intemper ale and crazy, and that their good sense has taken such sudden leave of thens.

BFWe have witnessed with great interest the splendid collection of Marble and Alabastar Statuary, Vases, Marble Ornaments and Bohemian glass ware now for sale at Armory Hall .-We were surprised and pleased in view ing this extensive collection of all the different styles of goods of Antique-Modern and Modern-Antique design comprising superb goods for the man of fortune, and plain but good articles for those of moderate means. We noticed Judge Topham, deceased. This is a among other rate and beautiful articles ! good appointment; Mr. Taylor is famila superb sett of beautifully sculptured, statuary of Tareo, Dante, Aristo and Petrarch. The sculpture and finish of which are fully equal to anything to be met with in Italy. It is well worth a visit to see this seit alone. We were also shown several specimens of unique and elegant Marble and Alabaster Ornaments and Bohemian glass-ware. Mr Pandolfial informs us that he imported this extensive collection from Italy.

The above articles will be sold at publie Auction, this morning, at 10 e'clock, Such an opportunity rarely occurs, and we have no doubt, but those of our citizens who neglect to attend the sale, will jong regret il.

63-The Concert at Orenn Hall, on Monday night by Madaure, Widemann, Mons. Genibrel, & Signor Bassini, assisted by the Germanians, was a Magnificent affair. It was the concert of the season. Of the reputation and ability of these artists, we had heard much, & expected more, but the reality went far beyond our most sanguine hopes. Madame Widergann song the portions of the programms assigned to her, with taste, artistic skill, and thrilling effect. We have never heard the Carvatina from Montechl Capaletti given with more genuine pathos and skill. Her rendering of her role in the Duo from Semframe-and Puntani-and the Aria from La Favoriti,—were the finest specimens of vocalising, it has ever been our good fortune to hear. We except Jenuy Lind's singing. The Madame is french in her appearance-of good figure, fine proportions expressive countenance, dark eyes, and decidedly a handsome woman. Her voice is contralto-Stoltz-and is rich, sweet, full, clear and silvery. In the touching language of her own native land, "Sa voix est douce, touchante, et melo-dieuso." But she must be heard to be appreciated. Words cannot convey to the mind the emotion of rapture awakened by this child of song-We predict for Mudanic Widemann a brilliant career and a golden harvest in our country. Mone, Genibrel is from the Musical

Academy of Paris, and for the six years preceding the last two, was connected, as prime Basso of the Theatre royal, under the patronage of Government. in which position, none but the first artists ever find employment. He was, after much pursuasion induced to accept a lucrative engagament at the Opera House in New Orleans, and has sang as the Prime Basso there, during the opera season, for the last two years. He is a finished artist, an accomplished and educated gentleman. His voice is deep, strong and spirit stirring. His figure is tall and commanding. And one's first impression on recieving an introduction is, that you are in the presence of a man of superior mind and talent. His singing stire up the deep waters of the soul. As he descends step by step down to the lowest notes of his melody, and then mounts with smoothness and certainty to the highest points of his song, a thrily passes through your soul, and you sit lost in wonder and admiration. On Monday night he recured the approbatiod of every listener-and though we have not time to particularize, we can say in general terms, we know not that we ever listened to a Basso; whose every effort was so successful. Signor Baseini was to us a stranger. But from a friend in whom we have confidence, we have been informed that he came to this country loyears ago-and after a successful professional residence of 3 years. he returned to Europe, and basior the last twelve years been giving Concerts in the principal cities of the Continent. Last spring he returned to America. and is now on a profession tour through the States; after completing which he will locate as a teacher of music and counterpoint. As a violinist, he has few if any superiors. Many think him equal to Old Bull, and some pronounce superior. At all events, he handles his instrument and draws his bow like a magter. His execution on Monday night, of the Fantasia by Vicuxtents of Rome. composed by himself, amused and de lighted every one who enjoyed the priveledge of a listener. We did not think the violin capable of producing such a wonderful medley of strange, sweet and marvalous sounds as issued

TO PREVENT PITTING BY THE SMALL Pox.-Mr. Solon Robinson, in a communication in the "Plough, Loom and Anvil." recommends the following to prevent pitting by the small pox:

"Get from the apothecary a little vial of stuff called liquid cuticle, and as soon as the purtules are fully formed apply a little of the liquid with a little brush or feather to each one. As fast as they get ripe, remove the scab and wipe away the matter clean, and apply the liquid again. Il any of them fill a second time, you must remove the covering and repeat the process. It will emart like fun for a moment, but, my word for it, when you recover you shall not find a mark upon that pretty face of yours to prove you over had disease. I am told the article is made of gun cotton, dissolved in chloroform. It forms an artificial ekin over a wound just as good as the real one."

In order to deserve a true friend, we must learn first to be one.

Prewett, editor of the Ynzoo (Mes)
Trines, congratulates Mrs. Swissblue, of the Pittsburg Visitor, upon her wonder-fol and prefty baby-not doubtleg that if it is half as subset as he mann, it will make the world's ears tingle by and by. She adds—"By the way, we should like to show babies with you. Yours, no doubt, will dovery well, considering you are a free Soiler and a Democrat, but we (a Wing) will bet ours against all

ANOTHER CERTIFICATE FROM CONNECTICUT.

JERNIDEN, July 26, 1851.

Mesrs. Ried, Betes & Austin—Gentlemen—I take the liberty to express my graittude to you, for the good effects produced on me by the use of the Oxygenated Bitters.

By contitution has been greatly impaired, by Typhus and Billions Ferrer; and, for four years past, I have been troubled with a severe cough, and discharging greatly from the lwags, toy breathing very Liberious, and much distressed on my left side, near, and around the heart, so much so, that the males and whistling in my chest, would wake me out of a sound steep, the difficulty still increasing upon me when my breath almost wholly ceased.

I was carried in a chair from my testiness to the house, and no one who saw me thought I could long rurvive. I relead a bottle of the Oxygenated Bitters, accommended by a friend and in five or six days, it greatly referred my cough and hard breathing. I are not well, intrable to attend to my similar compliants. I therefore recommend it to the public as a valuable medicine.
